Adams County Banks Recover Some Gains During 1949 From Slight Dip In 1948 Deposits

Bank deposits of Adams countians swung upward again in 1949, staging a partial recovery from the dip they took in 1948, the first decline in more than a decade.

Year-end statements on 1949 business which have recently been published by the 14 banking houses in Adams county show that total liabilities of the 14 banks swung upward by nearly a third of a million dollars. Deposits form the largest part of those liabilities.

Seven of the county banks showed increases for 1949 over the totals at the end of business in 1948 and the seven others revealed lower totals on December 31, 1949.

But the overall figures show a total of $34,008,769.72 which is an increase of $299,972.07 over the total for the end of business in 1948.

Series of Gains
Last year's increase, however, failed to boost the total to the all-time peak reached by the county banks in 1947 when the sum was close to the $35,000,000 mark.

The drop in 1948 was the first after a series of years in which the total bank deposits in the county had climbed sharply. 1944 saw bank deposits jump $5,510,000 in the county. The increase in 1945 was $6,500,000 but by 1946 the tapering off process had begun and the total climbed only $1,628,000. The 1947 peak added only $99,291. The 1948 total represented a drop of 3 1/2 per cent or $1,246,174. The 1949 gain is approximately 0.9 per cent. In 1948, only three of the 14 banks showed increases in their total liabilities. In the peak year of 1947, seven banks showed gains and seven showed decreases.

ASSISTANT P.M. AT MERCERSBURG HELD FOR THEFT

Harry L. Wolfe, 59, of 165 South Main street, Mercersburg, assistant postmaster of the Mercersburg post office since 1917, was held for Federal court Monday afternoon by U. S. Commissioner Edward B. Buleit, Gettysburg, on charges of stealing from the mails. He waived a formal hearing and furnished $1,000 cash bail to appear before a Federal grand jury, probably at the March term in Scranton.

The charges were filed by Postal Inspectors C. E. Moo, York, and J. J. McNab, Harrisburg, working under direction of D. H. Stephens, postal inspector in charge of the Philadelphia division. Wolfe was notified to appear before Commissioner Buleit because Commissioner Edwin D. Strite, Jr., of Chambersburg, is vacationing in Florida. He was placed under formal arrest Monday afternoon by U. S. Marshal William L. Capello, of Harrisburg.

Charges Are Filed
The informations filed with Commissioner Buleit charge that on Sunday, January 29, Wolfe embezzled one piece of first class mail addressed to W. R. Appenzeller, treasurer of the Chambersburg Trust company; a piece of third class mail addressed to Charles Thompson, Mechanic; "abstracted" an elec-

BLINKER LIGHTS MUST BE OBEYED

"Blinking" traffic lights impose "certain restrictions" on motorists which are not being obeyed, Burgess William G. Weaver said today.

To clarify any misunderstandings regarding the operation of traffic lights in the borough, the burgess today issued the following statement:

"The traffic lights in Gettysburg are located and operated in accordance with the state law. The lights are in operation from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m. daily, showing red, green and amber in proper sequence. From 11 p. m. until 7 a. m. the same lights operate as blinkers.

"While blinking the traffic lights impose certain restrictions on motorists. These restrictions seem not to be understood and therefore ignored. A blinking RED light means come to a full STOP. A blinking AMBER light means proceed with caution.

"The borough police have been instructed to enforce this law and no longer accept the explanation of misunderstanding of the lights' meaning. This action is taken for the safety of the public, motorists as well as pedestrians."

Countian Qualifies For Marine Promotion

Marine Private First Class Eugene F. Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanders, Fourth street, recently qualified for promotion to the rank of corporal.

Under the new promotion system of the Marine Corps, all personnel who possess the necessary time in grade, are permitted to compete for promotion with other members of their own rank. Although there are not sufficient vacancies at the present to permit the immediate promotion of all who qualify, an entry is made in the service record book and when an opening exists, the man is promoted without further delay.

Private Sanders enlisted in the Marine Corps on July 15, 1948 at the Marine Corps recruiting office in Baltimore.

FRUIT GROWERS MEET SATURDAY AT BIGLERVILLE

County Agent M. T. Hartman today urged every fruit grower in Adams county to attend Saturday's all-day session of the Fruit Growers' Association of Adams county. The meeting will be held in the Biglerville auditorium during the morning and at the C. H. Musselman company cafeteria during the afternoon.

The meeting, Hartman said, is the most important in many years because of the many new spray materials that will be discussed at the session.

"There are more spray materials than ever before to work with, and there are certain precautions and characteristics of the new sprays that must be understood by the fruit grower if he is to do a good job. The compatibility of sprays, which will be discussed, is of the utmost importance.

Important Information

"For many of the spray materials to be discussed, the properties are reasonably well known; for others, very little is known, but at this meeting the very latest information on research work will be given, and the results found by not only the Pennsylvania research laboratories but by the labs in surrounding states will be used as background for the discussions.

"It is important to know about these new spray materials, because we must produce the highest quality fruit at the most economical cost. Four full spray schedules on apples will be discussed and variations can be made within the schedules to suit the requirements of the individual orchards. Because it is highly important that the nature of the materials be known if any variations are used, all growers should be present at Saturday's session," the county agent noted.

The program will begin at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning. Dinner will be served by the C. H. Musselman company at its Biglerville cafeteria.

Girl Scout Troop Plans Rummage Sale

Plans for a rummage sale February 11 were outlined Monday evening at a meeting of Senior Girl Scout Troop No. 29 held at the home of Miss Donna Hammer, East Middle street.

Kay Coleman and Peggy Holtzworth were named as delegates from the local troop to a Girl Scout conference to be held April 22 at York. Miss Violet Rosensteel was introduced as a new assistant leader. The next meeting will be held February 27 at the home of Miss Rosensteel.

Standing on the right is Mrs. Lloyd Cooley, Aspers R. 2, Patricia's grandmother.

Old Jailyard Wall To Be Used By Borough In Street Building

Adams county's old jail wall will eventually become part of Gettysburg's streets, L. Daniel Shealer, of the borough highway committee revealed today.

Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner said that he had received orders from Committee Chairman Shealer to have the borough workers dismantle the wall around the present Adams County Free Library property and use the stone for fill, for repairs to the stone wall along the Tiber or for any other borough purpose.

The stone is to be removed as needed, Winebrenner said he had been told, and he said that possibly the first stone will be taken from the wall in about two weeks, to be used for fill in the extension of West street.

He added that the first part of the wall to be dismantled will be the rear part along Wall street, but noted that his instructions are to dismantle the wall in such a way that the top part all around will go first leaving a fence for the rear of the library lot.

The agreement between the borough and the library seems to solve the problem of the library of what to do with the old jail wall, while at the same time giving the borough an answer to the question, what to use for fill in making new streets and where to obtain stone for replacement in the wall along the Tiber.

For the last several years the 100-year-old 15-foot wall has been a problem, first to the county and then to the library. A portion of the rear of the wall fell several years ago, and was replaced. The east side of the wall bulged considerably several years ago and a wooden frame was placed to hold it in position and prevent its fall.

Just how rapidly the wall will be removed will be determined by the need for stone for various purposes, the borough engineer said.

250 Attend Annual March Of Dimes Dances On Monday

One hundred and twenty-five attended the annual March of Dimes dance held Monday evening at the Hotel Gettysburg, while a similar crowd met at the Cross Keys hotel for a March of Dimes dance held for the eastern part of the county.

At Gettysburg, Howard Gale's orchestra provided the music, and a feature was the presentation of a number of prizes during the evening. The prizes included a box of candy donated by Rea and Derick, a corsage given by Cremer's flower shop, a basket of fruit donated by Acme markets and a number of articles including a cigarette holder, a key holder, ice tongs and a bar accessory donated by Henry M. Scharf.

Reservations for the Hotel Gettysburg dance brought $80 additional into the treasury of the county Infantile Paralysis fund. The dances were described as among the best held so far in the annual county infantile paralysis campaigns. One-half of the money raised in the county during the campaign goes to the national March of Dimes organization to provide funds for research on polio and maintenance of such institutions as the Warm Springs foundation for treatment of polio. The remainder of the braces, special shoes, treatment and to provide for treatment of countians who contract the disease, continuous provision of such things as braces, special shoes treatment and the like for those who have the disease, and the local county group has also lent money to other counties where epidemics of the disease utilized all available funds.

Mrs. Joseph E. Codori, chairman of the county fund, reported today that $417.93 has been realized in Littlestown for the "March of Dimes" so far. Mrs. Charles W. Weikert has done "an excellent job," Mrs. Codori said. So far 63 sponsors have been secured from Littlestown. In addition to those previously announced are Bernie Shriver, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton L. Evans, Smile Sunday School Class of St. John's church, Marshman's Rexall store, Primary-Junior department of Redeemer's Reformed Sunday school and George M. Zerling Hardware.

So far nearly 300 sponsors have been secured for the March of Dimes. Sponsors are those who have donated $5 or more. Other additional sponsors include Sacred Heart Parish National Council of Catholic Women of McSherrystown, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Weishaar, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy H. Winebrenner, Gettysburg VFW Auxiliary and Women of the Moose.

BULLETINS

Washington, Jan. 31 (P)—In the absence of a last minute—and effective—order from John L. Lewis sending striking miners back to work today, President Truman was reported ready to appoint a fact-finding board to look into the 10-month coal dispute.

Presidential advisers gave no hint whether Mr. Truman would use the Taft-Hartley act machinery, as demanded by Senator Byrd (D.-Va.) in a new request for action. Over 100,000 soft coal miners are idle.

Moscow, Jan. 31 (P)—Russia has recognized Ho Chi-minh's anti-French Viet-nam republic in Indo-China and has agreed to exchange diplomatic representatives with the Asiatic communist chieftain.

Carlisle Officer To Inspect Local Unit

A status of training inspection will be conducted by the 2108th Replacement depot, local Army Reserve unit, Col. E. J. Nowicki, commanding officer, announced today.

The inspection will be held by Capt. Frederick L. Grant, Carlisle, unit instruction, at the regular Wednesday evening meeting of the unit, to be held at the American Legion home, Baltimore street, at 8 o'clock. Tests will be given on the work covered by the organization during the past year.

FREEZING RAIN COATS HIGHWAYS WITH ICE, SNOW

Freezing rain early this morning made driving conditions hazardous in many parts of Adams county, and called out the cinder crews from the state highway department garage on the Fairfield road. Trees and wires were coated with ice, but rising temperatures melted much of it later in the day.

In Gettysburg, the temperature dropped from a high of 44 degrees Monday to 28 degrees, the lowest recorded during the night and early morning.

Ice And Slush Reported
Snow, sleet and freezing rain covered most of the interior part of Pennsylvania this morning, according to teletype weather reports received at the Gettysburg substation of the state police, and driving conditions in many sections were hazardous.

Worst conditions were reported in the northeastern part of the state where snowplows and cinder crews were at work, the teletype messages said. Ice was reported in the mountains. The turnpike was wet, with slush in several places.

Temperatures early this morning ranged from 20 to 36 degrees, state police said. Ice formed on trees and wires.

Mansfield reported a temperature of 24; Lock Haven, 30, with snow; Coudersport, 26; Milton, 30; Emporium, 30 and Shamokin, 36, police said.

In the Philadelphia area rain began falling late Monday night and freezing temperatures turned it to ice on many suburban roads. There were several traffic accidents, due to the ice, at Reading. In the Scranton area nearly an inch of sleet and snow fell. The snow turned to rain this morning.

Steady rains in the Pittsburgh area Monday night turned to snow and sleet. Power lines in many sections broke down under the weight of the ice. Rain in northern and western Pennsylvania today was scheduled to turn to snow later in the day.

Hold Farewell For Rev. Paul J. Horick

Approximately 200 members of the Upper Meridian Lutheran church and friends gathered last Friday evening in the Aspers fire hall to honor and officially bid farewell to the resigning pastor, Rev. Paul J. Horick and family. A supper was served and a program given.

Words of tribute and farewell were paid to the honored guests by the leaders of the church organizations. To the Rev. Mr. Horick was presented a purse and Mrs. Horick was given a dozen red roses.

Rev. Dr. O. D. Coble and Mrs. Coble were present to extend greetings and farewell to the Horicks.

A duet was sung by Blanche Sowers and Marie Prosser. A reading was presented by Mrs. Freeman Glass.

The Rev. Mr. Horick preached his farewell sermon on Sunday.

Countians Hurt In Thomasville Crash

Three persons were injured, none seriously, when two cars collided in front of Thomasville inn, five miles west of York Monday afternoon.

Catherine Krall, East Berlin, was treated for a cut lip by Dr. Leon Roos in East Berlin and taken to Hanover hospital after he suspected she had a brain concussion. Hospital officials said Monday night she had no concussion and her condition was satisfactory.

Russell Sipes, 62, East Berlin, received a fracture of the right knee and possible head injuries. His son, George Sipes, 36, also of East Berlin, had a cut scalp and both suffered from shock. They are being treated in West Side Osteopathic hospital, York.

State Trooper John J. Corbett, who investigated, said Miss Krall was turning into the inn as the Sipeses were leaving when the accident happened. He will complete his investigation today.

The Sipes car received about $175 damage while Miss Krall's vehicle will require about $500 to repair.

Fuse 'Blows' And Part Of Town 'Goes Dead'

A large part of the first block of York street on the north side, the Hotel Gettysburg and the Majestic theater, were without lights for 30 minutes Monday afternoon when a transformer fuse on a Metropolitan Edison line in Race Horse alley blew out, at the rear of the P and T restaurant, Richard E. Dreas, local manager, said. The transformer fuse "blew" at 2:25 p. m. Service was restored at 3:05 p. m.

7 ARE FINED, TWO NOTIFIED ON CODE COUNTS

Seven motorists paid fines before justices of the peace on charges filed by state police of the Gettysburg substation, the latter announced today, and ten-day notices were being mailed to two others.

John A. Robbins, Nescopeck, Pa., paid $10 and costs to Justice of the Peace George Brandt, Dillsburg, for speeding.

Charles E. Wise, Lebanon, Pa., was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace John Hinkle, York Springs R. D., for making an improper pass at the crest of a grade.

Norman Herman, York Springs R. 2, was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace Elton Myers, Idaville, on a charge of failing to yield the right of way at an intersection. Filing of the charges followed an accident in which Herman was involved in Idaville December 12.

Others Fined
Richard C. Warren, 210 Frederick street, Hanover, paid $5 and costs to Justice of the Peace Gerald Orndorff, New Oxford, for a stop sign violation.

E. H. Willough, Lewisburg, Pa., was fined $10 and costs by Squire Myers for making an improper pass.

Hugh W. Robinson, West Chester, Pa., paid $10 and costs to Justice of the Peace S. M. Kohler, Fayetteville, for speeding with a truck.

Clarence J. Heaney, Rochester, N. Y., paid $10 and costs to Justice of the Peace Robert Bell, Gettysburg R. 4, for speeding.

A ten-day notice has been sent by Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder to Melvin Black, Aspers, on a bad pass charge, and another to Benjamin H. Kennedy, Carbondale, Pa., for passing a red light.

REV. DR. PUTMAN IS HONORED

Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putman, president of the Central Pennsylvania Synod, United Lutheran Church, and former pastor of Christ Lutheran church here, was elected a vice-president of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches, at Harrisburg, today. Dr. Raymond M. Kistler, president of Beaver college, Jenkintown, was elected president.

Dr. Kistler, a native of Pittsburgh, succeeds Bishop John S. Stamm, Harrisburg, of the Evangelical United Brethren churches. Bishop Stamm is also president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Other vice presidents of the Pennsylvania council named were Dr. A. G. Breidenstine, dean of men, Franklin and Marshall college, Lancaster; Judge John S. Fine, of the state Superior Court, Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, of the Methodist church, Pittsburgh; and Dr. Clyde A. Lynch, president of Lebanon Valley college, Annville.

Other officers named included: the Rev. Robert J. Gotschall, Norris-town, recording secretary; James W. Runk, Harrisburg, treasurer, and H. B. Alexander, Harrisburg, finance committee chairman.

200 YOUTH AT RALLY SUNDAY

Approximately 200 persons attended a youth rally held by the Fifth district Young People's Council of Adams county in observance of Youth Week in the Goodyear Lutheran church Sunday evening.

The program included: Prelude, Harold Ecker, Heidlersburg Lutheran church; congregational hymn, "Praise Him Praise Him" and "My Very Best for Jesus" with Dale Reinecker, York Springs Lutheran church, directing the singing; reading, "Builders," by Janice Brough, Chestnut Grove Lutheran church.

Gettysburg's borough officials gave details on the mosquito eradication program, proposed improvement to the sewer system, and details of how the town "got out of the red and into the black," over a period of years during the course of Monday evening's regular meeting of Rotary and the YWCA.

Borough Councilman John D. Teeter told the group: "Our sewerage plant has been unsatisfactory for the past 20 years and has not been improved during that time. It is a disgrace to our community and to the state of Pennsylvania. We should all want to build a new addition to the sewer plant, not just because we received a notice from the Pennsylvania Department of Health, but because the present condition that exists on account of our sewer plant is terrible. It jeopardizes the health and welfare of the entire community. It is polluting the streams from here all the way into the Chesapeake Bay."

Urges Addition Now

Noting a recent editorial in the Philadelphia Bulletin condemning the National Park Service for the condition here in connection with pollution of the Monocacy river, and the reply of the park service that it was not responsible for Gettysburg's sewer system, Councilman Teeter added: "Our community is a great historic shrine. We cannot afford to have this kind of publicity. Rock Creek at one time was a very nice stream of water. Look at it today and what do you see? A stream of water so polluted that the only visible animal life activity is the breeding of mosquitoes."

Pointing out that the addition to the sewer system will cost "about $200,000," the councilman suggested that "we turn our present sewer plant and the plans and specifications for the addition over to the Gettysburg Municipal Authority and recommend that it start construction of this new sewer plant in addition within the next two or three months."

"My reason for suggesting that the Municipal Authority take over the sewer system and build the new addition, is that it would be in position to raise the money through a bond issue quicker than it could be done by the borough council, as the council would have to do this by having the citizens of the borough vote for or against the bond issue at our next election."

Charge Sewer Rental

"Now of course when we borrow money through a bond issue it has to be paid back. The only way to do this is for the Municipal Authority to charge a sewer rental and when the bond issue is paid off, the Municipal Authority would then return the sewer system back to the borough for operation and maintenance."

"It has been said that the people of Gettysburg will not want to pay a sewer tax or rental and that the college, seminary, and other tax-free institutions would not want to pay a sewer tax or rental. I feel sure that every citizen of Gettysburg is willing to pay for his share of local government and that the officials of the college and seminary would not want the other citizens of the town paying their bills. I feel that all of the people of Gettysburg will favor this new improvement even though they are all going to have to dig down into their pockets a little deeper and pay a few more dollars tax."

Town Officials Present

Among borough officials present for the discussion were Burgess William G. Weaver, Councilman John Teeter, Mahlon P. Hartzell, George March, Samuel Weiser, Calvin Shank and Fred Hummelbaugh; Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster, Treasurer John H. Basehor, Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner and Fire Marshal and Health Officer Eugene Sickles. Borough Solicitor Eugene V. Buleit was moderator for the round-table discussion.

Burgess Weaver told the group that the borough is getting increased cooperation both on parking meter payments and on double-parking. Trucks have the right to double-park while loading and unloading, according to state laws, the burgess said, but added that "requests to the drivers of trucks is resulting in increased cooperation and wherever possible the truck drivers are pulling to the curb instead of double-parking."

"We are trying to extend courtesy to visitors to our town. We have asked the hotels to notify visitors of the all-night parking laws and we intend to inaugurate a courtesy card program for visitors. The police will give courtesy cards rather than violation tickets to visitors when they are in violation of the parking laws."

JOHNSON CALLS FOR POWERFUL, ALERT AMERICA

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson calls in his first annual report for America to stay powerful and alert until international cooperation "is accepted by the adversaries who are now doing their utmost to destroy it."

He coupled this call in the report issued last night, with a warning that his country could be attacked "from the opposite hemisphere without warning and with unpredictable fury."

Johnson noted that Russia now has the atomic explosion secret. But he also expressed his belief that "the threat of war has diminished as our strength has increased."

Most Formidable
He assessed this strength as the most formidable since the height of our military power in 1945. Elsewhere he termed the readiness of our armed forces and our military potential "greater today than in any previous peacetime period in our nation's history."

Johnson urged, at another point, positive action "to prevent piecemeal aggressions, which, unopposed, might lead to another world war."

Johnson gave armed services unification some of the credit for America's current military strength. He also stressed defense cooperation in U. S. world strategy with the State department, with which he has been reported at odds on occasions.

But Johnson's heaviest accent on power was slanted toward scientific developments. In highlighting some hitherto secret work he said the United States must consider "every important weapon and combination of weapons which might be used against it."

He specifically noted work done by the military to give the country adequate defenses and countermeasures against biological, radiological and chemical warfare "in new and insidious forms."

YUKON RESCUE PLANE CRASHES

Whitehorse, Y. T., Jan. 31 (AP)—An heroic search pilot, his face broken and bloody, fought through deep snow and tangled forest late yesterday to report his plane had crashed 21 miles to the south. Three of the men he left behind were injured. He said the two others were "all right."

The U. S. Air Force C-47 went down while engaged in the north country's greatest aerial mercy mission—the hunt for a USAF C-54 which dropped from sight last Thursday with 44 persons aboard. Lt. Charles R. Harden, pilot of the C-47 which arrived here Sunday from Elmendorf field, Anchorage, Alaska, was brought in last night by two civilian employees of the U. S. engineers. They picked him up on the narrow carross road 21 miles below this principal Yukon air base.

"My plane is down," he wearily told search officials. He placed the crash scene as five miles east of the spot where he was found.

A ground rescue crew headed by Lt. Edwin Gulzinski, Camp Carson, Colo., left immediately for the site. They were expected to reach the survivors sometime this morning.

Plan Training For Boy Scout Leaders

The training committee for the Black Walnut and Conewago Boy Scout districts met Monday evening in Hanover and set up plans for a training course to open six-week sessions March 7 in New Oxford for troop leaders and troop committee men in the two districts.

The program was set up with Lester Hull, Hanover, as scoutmaster; Robert Nicky, Hanover, assistant scoutmaster, and Charles Trump of the Idaville-Gardners troop as senior patrol leader. Other senior patrol leaders will be Lee McDermitt, Gettysburg; Samuel Ehlman, Biglerville; Edgar Wolfe, Littlestown, and Lawrence Long of McSherrytown.

A pre training period will be held February 24 in the Hanover Chamber of Commerce office but the main course will open March 7 in the basement of the Immaculate Conception school basement in New Oxford. Troop and patrol problems and activities will be covered at sessions on successive Tuesdays, with an outdoor camping program to be presented April 22 and 23 at Camp Tuckahoe.

SEMINARY GRAD CATHOLIC NOW

A former pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, Keyser, W. Va., was received into the Roman Catholic church last week, the ceremony taking place at St. Peter's Catholic church, Oakland, Md.

Felix G. Robinson, widely known as the founder and director of the Mountain Choir festival, was joined in his profession of faith in the Catholic church by his wife and youngest child, Monica. The oldest daughter, Muriel, now residing in Baltimore, became a Catholic last summer.

A native of Garrett county, Robinson attended Gettysburg college. After completing his A.B. course, he taught a year in the academy here. During his preparation for the Lutheran ministry at the local Theological seminary he did student preaching in Philadelphia, Chicago and New York. Graduating from Gettysburg with a bachelor of divinity degree in 1925, his first pastorate was at the Lutheran Church of the Incarnation, Jamaica, L. I. He was called to Trinity Lutheran at Keyser in 1933 and it was during his pastorate there that he founded the Mountain Choir festival in 1934.

In a lengthy statement the former Protestant minister revealed that the step he has taken "is not a sudden one and that it is not an easy decision to make."

Mr. Robinson lived with his parents here a number of years. Their residence was opposite the Wentz furniture store, Baltimore street. Mrs. Robinson was formerly Miss Lucile Henry, supervisor of music in the Gettysburg public schools for several years. Mr. Robinson will also be remembered as a member of the Seminary quartet which won considerable acclaim throughout the east during his seminary days.

WORLEY SPEAKS AT WAYNESBORO

"How to Make the Republican Party Win in November" was the subject of an address given by Assemblyman Francis Worley Monday evening before the Waynesboro Council of Republican Women. Mr. Worley is a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress from this district.

"Clean up our party, make it the party of the people and don't sell out to the manufacturers and vested interests," Mr. Worley advised. He said the GOP must return to the liberal and progressive principles upon which it was founded. He charged that Republicans and Democrats alike have failed to gear their party policies to the trend of the times.

He said the GOP should admit and support good features of the administration program but battle against its bad points. He urged support of world government and execution of reforms urged by the Hoover report as projects that should be sponsored by the Republicans.

The achievement of industrial peace by an honest attempt to reconcile demands of all interests without using the issue as a political football and the equalization of opportunity for all Americans were suggested as two means by which America can help beat communism here.

POWERFUL MULE QUINTET PLAYS HERE WEDNESDAY

Muhlenberg college, once again rated as one of the outstanding mail college basketball powers, comes here Wednesday evening to meet the Gettysburg college dribblers who will be playing their first home game in three weeks.

Despite the absence of the famed Donovan brothers who were an enigma to the Bullets for four campaigns, the Mules have another mouth functioning team that has set but four games in 12 starts against some of the finest competition in the east.

The Mules lost to CCNY, Long Island, Villanova and Temple while defeating Fordham, Delaware, Penn. Albright, Lafayette, Lehigh and Bucknell and Connecticut.

Coach Benny Borgmann's outfit is greatly bolstered this year by the return of Danny Mackin who played most of last year's games to an injury. Other veterans have appeared here several seasons will include Dick McGee, 17; Irv Jaffe, 65; Al Saemmer, 14; Elmo Jackson, 6; Al Rubbert, Martini, Baker and Loneragan.

"Last year the Bullets gained an even break with the Mules, winning way 61-59 and later losing 65-61 at Gettysburg. Coach "Hen" Bream's outfit will have to be at its best if it hopes to upset the invaders.

Johnny Yovicin's freshmen, idle since January 14, will meet Stevens Trade school in the preliminary game at 7 o'clock. The frosh have won one of three games.

HOLY CROSS FIVE STILL TOP TEAM

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—"Sure, we think we're the best in the nation. And we'll keep on thinking it until somebody beats us."

The speaker? Lester Sheary, coach of unbeaten Holy Cross (14-0) which today was voted the nation's top basketball team for the third straight week in the Associated Press poll.

Although idle last week, the Crusaders were tabbed No. 1 on 92 of the 157 ballots cast by sportswriters and broadcasters throughout the country.

All told, Holy Cross totaled 1,446 points. Duquesne (14-0), pride of Pittsburgh, placed second with 1,040 and 10 first place votes. The two leaders are the only major unbeaten teams in the country.

Bradley (17-3) registered impressive triumphs over Tulsa and St. Louis to advance from sixth to third place. Close behind came Long Island university (14-2) in fourth. St. John's of Brooklyn (16-2), which held the roost for several weeks, held its No. 5 spot, followed, in order, by Kentucky (14-4), Ohio State (15-3), La Salle (12-2), North Carolina State (15-3) and CCNY (10-2).

Biglerville high school's undefeated girls moved a notch closer to the Adams County league championship by trouncing Newville 48-5 at Biglerville. Coach Doris Stierly's outfit permitted Newville but one goal, that by Martin in the second quarter, to gain its easiest triumph of the season. Meanwhile nine Carner players broke into the scoring lineup.

The Biglerville reserves also won easily, 54-21. Longanecker looped 21 points for the winners.

New Oxford also swept a double bill. The varsity blanked Boiling Springs 18-0 in the first half to gain an easy 46-15 decision at New Oxford. Miller, Stough and Lieb set the pace for the winners.

In one of the lowest scoring games of the season the New Oxford jayvees took an 11-6 verdict.

PICK MIKAN AS BASKETBALL'S BEST PLAYER

By TED MEIER

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—Eight years ago he was just a big awkward guy. Today George Mikan was named the greatest basketball player of the last 50 years by sportswriters and broadcasters participating in the Associated Press mid-century poll.

It is significant that it seems hardly necessary to identify Mikan as the former DePaul university star now with the Minneapolis Lakers in the National Basketball association. Mikan has developed to the point where he is called by many "Mr. Basketball."

Luisetti Is Runnerup

Respected 6-09 Mikan, who holds virtually all the individual scoring marks in the NBA, polled 139 of the 390 votes cast.

Hank Luisetti, Stanford's whiz of 13 years ago, was very much in the running. He got the runnerup spot with 123.

Mikan and Luisetti far outdistanced the others. Nat Holman, of the original New York Celtics and now coach of City College of New York, was third with 31.

Charley (Chuck) Hyatt, Pitt flash of 23 years ago, was fourth with 16 and Alex Groza, star of Kentucky's NCAA champions last year and now with Indianapolis in the NBA, fifth with 13.

Others In Top Ten

Joe Fuls, of the Philadelphia Warriors whose 63-point single game mark in the NBA Mikan has yet to eclipse, and Forrest (Red) Debernardi, who played with the St. Joseph (Mo.) Hillards in the twenties, each received seven votes and tied for sixth.

Two other members of the original New York Celtics—Joe Lapchick, now coach of New York in the NBA, and Dutch Dehnert, credited with inventing the modern pivot play at Chattanooga in 1926—tied for eighth. Each got six votes.

Bob Kurland, Oklahoma A & M's star of four and five years ago and now with the Phillips Oilers, completes the top 10. He received four votes.

Carlisle Game Will Be Played Thursday

The Gettysburg-Carlisle basketball games, originally scheduled for Friday evening, will be played on Thursday evening, it was announced today by Fred Haehnle, high school physical manager.

The change in date was made at the request of Carlisle officials due to other activities scheduled at Carlisle on Friday.

GHS Fives Host To Greyhounds Tonight

Tonight the Gettysburg high school cagers will open the second half race of the South Penn Basketball league by playing host to Shippensburg.

The Greyhounds, who finished second behind Chambersburg in the first half race, downed the Warriors at Shippensburg last month.

Coach Forney's team played one of its best games in trouncing Delone Friday night and a repeat performance tonight would undoubtedly bring victory.

The reserve teams will meet in the preliminary game at 6:45 o'clock.

Wilt May Race Gehrman Again

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—While track officials wrangled today over the winner of Saturday's split-decision Wanamaker mile, G-man Fred Wilt hinted he may race Don Gehrman again.

Gehrman, Wisconsin's ace runner, said he definitely will not come east again for an attempted repeat of his 4:09.3 mile victory over Wilt.

But Wilt said he will go west for the Chicago Daily News indoor meet March 18. Gehrman also will run there after competing in midwestern college meets for Wisconsin.

The flashy Badger with the tremendous finish kick is slated for the Bankers' mile that night. But Wilt, whose best distance is the two mile, wants to meet Gehrman at the longer distance.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON JR.

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Army is looking for football, basketball and baseball coaches for overseas duty as $4,600 to $5,750 per year—but that doesn't explain why top-flight college football tutors are quitting jobs because of "unsatisfactory" contracts. . . . Coaching probably is the most uncertain profession you can imagine, and these guys seem to be going out of their way to make it more uncertain—for themselves and for their assistants. . . .

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Gettysburg Monumental Band:
James W. Eicholtz has accepted the position of instructor of the Gettysburg Monumental Band, which a number of the young colored men of town have recently formed. Richard Thomas is the leader. The following is a list of the members: Richard Thomas, Amos Hildner, Harry Clay and Harry Green, cornets; Jacob Lons and Adam Myers, slide trombones;
James Carter, baritone; Benjamin Long, bass; Simon Milberry, William Reed and David Wilson, alto;
George Johnson, tenor; Bert Wilson and James Valentine, bass and snare drums, respectively.

The money, $181.20 for the purchase of instruments, was raised by subscription. They were procured through George E. Spangler, music dealer. The music hall is above the office of W. S. Dutter's tannery.

"The Courtship of Miles Standish":
The first division of the High School literary society held an interesting meeting, which was enjoyed by about a hundred of their friends last Friday afternoon in the auditorium of Meade school building. Longfellow's "Courtship of Miles Standish" was rendered with "solos" and dialogues. What made the program specially interesting was the reading by Miss Mary Hoffman.

Those who took part are: Captain Miles Standish, James Diller; John
Alden, George Wierman; Pecknot,
Allen Dickson; Priscilla, Grace
Troxell; Elder of Plymouth, Robert Hunter; Soldiers, Howard Gerber,
John Tate, Harvey Drais, Norman Hoke, Frank Ramey and John Gilbert; Paulina, Women, Etta Benner, Nina Storrick, Hattie Irwin, Mary
McAllister, Mary Sheads, Amanda
Tawney, Martha Dickson, Lulu Lattie and Belle Scott.

Marriages: Deatrick-Reary, Jan. 23, at Arendtsville, by Rev. M. M.
Nocher, John H. Deatrick to Miss Florence E. Reary, both of Butler township.

Peters-Hart, Jan. 25, at Arendts-ville, by Rev. M. M. Nocher, Edward Peters, of Butler township, to Miss Susan Gertrude Hart, of Franklin township.

on has bought the John C. Hamilton property on North Washington street and a small piece of ground adjoining from W. Henry Kalbfleisch.

We are indebted to the Studebaker

the album contains a half tone picture of the original Studebaker

A slight fire occurred Monday morning on the roof of William F.
Rhine's harness shop opposite the Court House on East Middle street.
Murray Long in passing noticed smoke coming from the roof and in the nick of time gave the alarm.
A bucket brigade of water put out the fire, which in a few minutes would have been fanned into a larger blaze with the wind that was blowing. The roof caught from a spark from the chimney.

We learn from a gentleman who

There are said to be fewer houses to rent in town this year than last.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS ACTION, ADVENTURE AND STRUGGLE

One of the most beloved of all our nature writers was John Burroughs.
In one of his writings he refers to the woodchuck who "appears to live only to accumulate his winter store of fat" and he tells of the leisure of the chipmunk who "gathers his stores only to spend months of inaction in the pitchy darkness of his subterranean den" and he contrasts the habits of these animals with the gray and red squirrels who, "though cold and hungry, have the light of day, the freedom of the snow and the treetops." And he remarks that "action, adventure, and struggle after all are better."

I am amazed at the "action, adventure, and struggle" of so many of our friends of the out-of-doors. I have fed the birds and these same squirrels that Burroughs tells about, from my study window, and from my back porch, on days that are cold and when the snow has been heavy, but nothing seems to be difficult to these brave creatures.

Difficulty has paved the road to all outstanding careers among men. The discoverers, inventors, and researchers, are all acquainted with it. There is to action something that gives incentive, to adventure that which stirs the imagination, and to struggle that from something that makes one indomitable. Columbus had it, as did Peary, Scott, Edison, Ford, Westinghouse, and a roll of men and women so great that it would take volumes to contain them all!

What a multitude of human beings go to their tasks for the joy of the thing! Not merely for material rewards, but for the spiritual satisfaction of having achieved something that gave in return personal happiness. There are those who leave behind them material gain—gold, immense estates, and gathered treasures, often to be quarrelled over, but who have left good deeds behind, moulded into a great character, leaves a deathless monument.

Wherever action, adventure, and struggle have been embodied in a human being's career, you may count upon one that has lived. And that life story is one to inspire others and to instill in us all the divinity to which we were all born!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject, "Movement."

THOUSANDS OF DRIVERS HAVE NO INSURANCE

Harrisburg, Jan. 31 (AP) — Nearly half of Pennsylvania's licensed motorists are without liability insurance on the eve of the state's new safety responsibility law.

The law, designed to curb motorists who can't pay accident claims against them, goes into effect tomorrow.

State officials estimate that some 1,600,000 of the state's 3,600,000 drivers are now without liability insurance to pay such claims should they arise.

The law requires that the operator of every car involved in an accident causing death, personal injury or more than $100 in property damage must file an accident report with the Revenue department within 24 hours. The present figure is $50.

The act provides for automatic suspension of the license of any motorist unless specific guarantee of payment of liability claims is posted within 60 days.

Expect Big Boom

If a motorist carries liability insurance on his car—at least $1,000 for property damage, $5,000 for possible injuries suffered by one person, and $10,000 for injuries to two or more persons—he is protected from suspension of his operator's license or registration privileges of his automobile.

Insurance officials expect that the new law will cause a big boom in auto insurance sales in Pennsylvania during the next several months. They predict that the number of motorists covered by insurance will soar from the estimated 45 per cent now to as high as 90 per cent by next year.

Insurance companies, those in Pennsylvania as well as out-of-state already, are conducting an all-out campaign to sign up motorists who do not now have liability insurance.
Such insurance, however, is not compulsory under the new law.

Tells What To Do

In connection with the liability insurance boom, the State Banking department warned all prospective buyers to make sure they are dealing with authorized companies and authorized representatives.

"Otherwise," a spokesman emphasized, "Mr. Motorist may find himself without valid protection at the crucial time."

Meanwhile, the State Revenue department warned motorists who become involved in auto crashes and who don't have insurance to do at least one of these things, unless they want to lose their license:

1. Release yourself from liability in the accident by obtaining acknowledgement from the other driver that the accident was his fault.

2. Or, agree in writing that you will pay all claims against you that may arise from the accident up to $11,- 000.

3. Or get a court decision in your favor that the accident was not your fault.

4. Or post a deposit with the Revenue department covering the amount of the claims against you until it is decided who is at fault.

None of the provisions applies if your car was legally parked at the time of the accident or if someone else was driving your car without your permission.

You are given 60 days after the accident to meet one of the four requirements.

18 ACCIDENTAL
DEATHS IN PA.;
14 ON HIGHWAYS

(By The Associated Press)
Fourteen persons died on Pennsylvania's highways over the week-end while miscellaneous accidents accounted for four additional fatalities.

Another Pennsylvanian, Robert L.
Auchter, of Clark, was killed by carbon monoxide poisoning as he slept in his truck with the motor running near Zanesville, Ohio.

Five of those killed in highway accidents were pedestrians. Of the non-highway mishaps, separate fires claimed the lives of two little girls.
A plane crash took another life.

Victims Of Fires
La Rue Seales, 50, Williamsport, was killed under the wheels of a Reading freight train in the Williamsport yards. Police said he apparently fell to his death.

Others killed:
Joan Stewart, two, of Abrams, Montgomery county, killed in fire that destroyed her parents' home Saturday.

Sandra K. Geedy, two, died Sunday of suffocation when fire destroyed her home at Denholm near Mifflin.

Other Tragedies
Oliver H. Robinson, 62, Downing-town, struck and killed by car Friday night on Lincoln highway near Coatesville; Calvin S. Goodman, 82, Reading, struck and killed by car on a Reading street, Saturday night.

Rabbi Morris K. Kaaplander, 58, Philadelphia, killed by car that crushed him against the wall of an apartment house in Philadelphia, Mara Kimura, 65, Philadelphia, killed by auto which struck him as he walked along a Philadelphia street.

Charles McLaughlin, 69, Williamsport, killed Saturday night when struck by car near his home; Capt.
Herman W. Gardner, 29, Freedom, burned to death Saturday when his fighter plane crashed at greater Pittsburgh airport; Gerhart Anderson, 61, Clermont, drowned Saturday when he was thrown into a creek as his car left highway on Route 146 near Smethport.

H. Ward Baker, 36, Carlisle, killed Saturday in a collision of a car and tractor-trailer at Camp Hill; Eleanor Romayne Cramer, 18, Carlisle, died Sunday of injuries sustained in crash that took Baker's life; Albert Dobos, 40, Greenville, killed Saturday night when his motorcycle collided with a car; James Rink, 22, Boothwyn, killed Sunday when car crashed into a tree; Solomon Waters, 52, Garrett, died in auto-truck crash
Saturday night near Donegal.

John G. Hummer, 43, Lebanon, killed Saturday night when his station wagon collided with truck; Mrs.
Jane McCracken, 66, McKeesport, died in a truck-auto crash Saturday on Route 30, near Irwin; William H.
Wrok, 42, Leetsdale, killed Saturday night when car ran over embankment on Route 22 in Derry township.

ANNOUNCING

new 1950 Lincolns

create a sensation at their premiere appearance!

ENTHUSIASTIC CROWDS SAY—"Nothing could be finer"!

*White side-wall tires, HYDRA-MATIC transmission optional at extra cost

*FINE-CAR OWNERS WHO SEE THEM AGREE THAT NOTHING COULD BE FINER...
IN STYLING...IN LUXURY...OR PERFORMANCE THAN THESE MAGNIFICENT NEW LINCOLNS!*

IT was frankly astounding, the enthusiastic reception given the new 1950 Lincolns and new 1950 Lincoln Cosmopolitans at their introduction a few days ago.

People little given to superlatives showered them freely on these magnificent new automobiles. For what they saw convinced them that nothing could be finer than Lincoln today.

They saw brilliant new distinction in new Lincoln styling. They saw new smartness in Lincoln's rich new appointments and upholsteries. They saw new elegance in Lincoln's new "Salon Styled" interiors—interiors which are, we believe, the most beautiful in the world.

Those fortunate enough to experience demonstrations discovered new ease and comfort with new Lincoln silken-smooth steering . . . restful springing . . . relaxing "Weather Control" ventilation system . . . whisper-quiet new Fiberglas soundproofing.

And with the thrilling high compression of Lincoln's great new "INVINCIBLE 8" engine now combined with HYDRA-MATIC*, they enjoyed performance unlike anything they had ever known!

In short, for craftsmanship and quality, as well as for excellence of engineering, these new Lincolns were frankly a revelation to everyone.

If you have not seen or driven a new 1950 Lincoln yet, why not do so soon? You, too, will be convinced that "nothing could be finer."

Chapter 17

For just a moment Rudd's eyes strayed to the face of his employer, but now there was nothing to be read there.

"Yeah," he agreed. "An Indian. I didn't believe a word of it. But Marshall here"—he jerked a thumb toward the curious puncher—"he found a spatter of blood where somebody else had been shot, and had got away. And Valse, as he calls himself, claims to have seen the Indian shoot Fortescue, then to have took a shot at him when he wouldn't stop."

Again there was silence for a dragging moment while the crowd considered all the implications of Rudd's tale. It was a startling story, especially the last part of it. If an Indian had murdered Fortescue, and then had been shot in turn, here was a witch's brew indeed. One with double to spice it hotly.

Just what you'd expect of an Indian, a voice said unsteadily. That was Sam Underhill, proprietor, when sober enough, of the Philadelphia Store; Lundeen's rival—if it could be called that. No one paid any attention to him.

De Polo spoke. "It'll be easy to check on the story," he said. "We can see what Miss Daniels has to say. Though," he added deliberately, "I'm not doubting any that it'll turn out to be correct. It runs in my mind that we all made a mistake before, and that you're Trib Valse, right enough."

With that quiet admission, he crossed to Valse and set about untying him. After a moment, Lundeen moved to assist him, nodding.

"Guess I've been blind too," he admitted. "I can see it now, too, Trib. And I'm right sorry."

Valse's heart warmed a little. These men had been honest, as they saw it. They simply had not known him before, changed as he was. But having recognized their mistake, they were big enough to admit it. He slid to the ground stiffly, still a little dizzy.

"Thanks, boys," he said. "I figured you'd come around. Even Rudd, here, has pretty well made up his mind that I'm Valse."

Rudd, challenged, did not attempt a denial. He was aware of his employer's displeasure at the whole proceeding, but the very fact of his hate for this man made it doubly necessary now that he admit the truth.

"Yeah," he agreed. "I'm more'n half inclined to think you are him."

Zachary stirred uneasily. This was fast approaching the sort of showdown that he most wished to avoid. His mind was working fast. He could still temporize, still deny that he saw any resemblance to his cousin in this man. But if the others were untied in their acceptance of Valse and his claims, he could not long refuse to give up the Gun and get off it. And that would be defeat, complete and final.

"Ain't we forgettin' the thing that affects everybody most?" he asked. "Do you claim"—he looked directly at Valse but did not call him by name—"do you claim that an Indian shot Fortescue, and then you shot and wounded this Indian in turn?"

Valse nodded.

"That's the size of it," he agreed. "I was headin' for the Gun—mebbe you can guess why. Zachary, Fortescue had left the ranch, hours before. Then I saw him, out in this little meadow. And somebody shot him off his horse, shot him in the back. I was still back in the trees. The killer came out into the open, and I saw it was an Indian. I tried to stop him, and when he tried to get away, I fired, mostly with the notion of scaring him. Looks like mebbe I hit him. What would you have done, in a case like that?"

"Reckon any of us would have done the same, Trib." It was de Polo again, his voice thoughtful.

"Yeah, I reckon we'd have done the same."

Other heads were nodding in agreement. No man there but realized the possible implications of what had happened. If the Indians had gone berserk and had killed a man, that was bad. But with one of them wounded in turn, there were all the makings here of a sudden fierce flare-up of border war.

Everyone knew what this might mean, but their sympathy was all for Valse, because a white man had been killed, and Fortescue had been his friend. Zachary saw how they felt, and made his resolve. It was the hour for the wedding, and Valse had been riding to the Gun last night to kill him. Now the sands were running strong for Valse, but he might turn them with a bold stroke.

"Maybe that's what you'd have done, de Polo," Zachary agreed. "Maybe I doubt if it's what I'd have done."

"You'd let an Indian murder a white man, and say nothing?" de Polo wondered, and there was faint scorn in his voice.

"No. But I'm not sold on the notion that this man is my cousin—I never have been. Listen! I've got something that I want to show all of you—something in my desk that I just remembered here, the last day or so. It fits. Maybe you'll be interested, same as I was. But before we got to that, use your heads."

His voice was harsh with impatience now, and men were listening to him attentively. Zachary went on.

"He's talkin', right now, to save his neck, even for a few hours. If Wanda backs his story, and it stacks up, that'll be fine. But suppose he's makin' that all up? Mebbe he tried to get Fortescue to back his story, and Fortescue was like the rest of us, and couldn't see it that way? Fortescue got shot, you remember, in the back. And then somebody happened along and saw it—a witness. He says it was an Indian. Mebbe so—maybe not. In any case, Valse admits shootin' him in the back! It all fits in with what I've got to show you!"

SEEK TO BLOCK 'PHONE STRIKE

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—The government's conciliation service took a step today toward heading off the nationwide telephone strike called to begin February 3.

William N. Margolis, associate director of the federal mediation and conciliation service, arranged to see the president of the union, the CIO communications workers.

The president, Joseph A. Beirne is openly hopeful of more effective action this time than in the last big dispute with the Bell Telephone system.

For one thing, the communications workers then were a loosely organized group and a strike ran for six weeks, with the company keeping the dial telephone equipment running with little public inconvenience.

This time, the union has the backing it can claim as a CIO member union. Also Beirne and his associates have devised a plan for unionists to keep the lines jammed with call after call, if necessary. It has pledged, however, to maintain emergency service for health, fire, police and other special needs.

The first strike hour—6 a. m. local time a week from tomorrow—will find 100,000 workers on strike in scattered unions across the country if the dispute is not otherwise settled by that time.

PROBE SEAMAN'S DEATH

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Navy is investigating the death of seaman Clifford B. Yeaple, Lancaster, Pa., aboard the Navy Oiler Salinas at Bermuda on January 14. The Navy Department said a preliminary medical report described the death as caused by "strangulation, apparently due to hanging." The Navy said Yeaple's parents would be given full information as soon as the investigation determines the facts.

Littlestown WILL HONOR VET LION THURSDAY

James U. Bowers, West King street, a charter member of the Littlestown Lions club, who has secured 25 members for the club since its organization a little more than 10 years ago, will be honored at the semi-monthly meeting of the club on Thursday night at 7 o'clock in the Littlestown high school cafeteria. He will receive a senior Master Key as an award. Ladies' night will also be observed at this meeting.

This program will be in charge of the Education committee, consisting of Robert L. Crouse, W. E. Koens, W. A. Crabbs and Vernon C. Reaver, assisted by Edgar A. Wolfe and Chester S. Byers.

The regular rehearsal of the Littlestown Men's chorus will be held Thursday evening at 9 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran church. This will be preceded by the senior choir rehearsal of St. Paul's church at 7:30 p. m. and the junior choir rehearsal at 6:30 p. m.

Plan IOOF Initiation
Littlestown Boy Scout troop No. 34 will meet at Center square on Thursday night at 7 o'clock, when they will leave for York to swim at the York YMCA at 8:30 p. m.

Announcement has been made at Littlestown that the Odd Fellows of Adams county will conduct a county initiation of all degrees on Saturday afternoon and evening, March 25. All of the degrees will be conferred in the rooms of Sylvania lodge No. 613, Littlestown.

There will be two varsity basketball games tonight at Littlestown. Both the York Springs varsity boys and girls teams will play the boys and girls varsity teams of Littlestown. A previous announcement had stated that the girls game would be played Monday night at York Springs.

Groups To Meet
The Abigail Kammerer Missionary society of St. Paul's Lutheran church will be held Wednesday at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. Robert Sell, North Queen street, with Mrs. Milton Harner as the leader. This meeting has been changed from the first Monday to the first Wednesday of the month.

Mrs. John C. Brumbach will be leader of the Women's Guild of Christ Reformed church, near Littlestown, for the monthly meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the church. The monthly meeting of the consistory will be held at the same hour and at 8 o'clock the trustees will meet with the consistory.

The covered dish supper at Redeemer's Reformed church, Wednesday at 6 p. m. will be for the teachers and officers of the children's department and their families and the Mothers' class taught by Mrs. George Conover and their families instead of only the teachers of the department.

SAYS COLD WAR CHIEF BARRIER TO WORLD PEACE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Maj. Gen. Frederick H. Osborn, who has resigned (effective today) as U. S. deputy on the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, says he believes the world is still in for a period of trial and Americans will be deluding themselves if they feel an easy time is ahead.

The general has been trying for three years to find the basis for an agreement with Russia on world atomic control. Never having got close to a solution he now declares: "I do not think the Soviet Union will come to agreement on the control of atomic energy until the (the leaders) reassess their relations with the world as a whole and decide that they want to live in a cooperative and friendly world."

This means, I take it, that atomic control isn't the primary consideration. World relations come first in importance, and atomic control depends on them—a thesis with which most observers are likely to agree. That brings us bang up against the troublesome question of what can produce "a cooperative and friendly world."

Widespread Upheaval

Most people know the answer to that, but it is so disconcerting that they try to evade it. The answer is that we can't have friendship and cooperation until our world-wide politico-social upheaval has run its course.

That isn't confined to the cold war between communism and democracy. In one form or another this politico-social readjustment is going on in every thinking country. As a matter of fact you find it beginning to show itself even among the primitive peoples.

This struggle for the ironing out inequalities is taking so many forms that it can't be pinned down with on characterization. The most clean-cut division, of course, is the political and economic strife between communism and democracy—the cold war which now reaches around the world and is swelling daily.

Barrier To Peace

The cold war is the chief barrier to world peace. This is true because communism and democracy are utterly irreconcilable. That's the reason General Osborn wasn't able in three years to find a basis for agreement. It's the reason the United Nations haven't been able to get together, and aren't likely to do so.

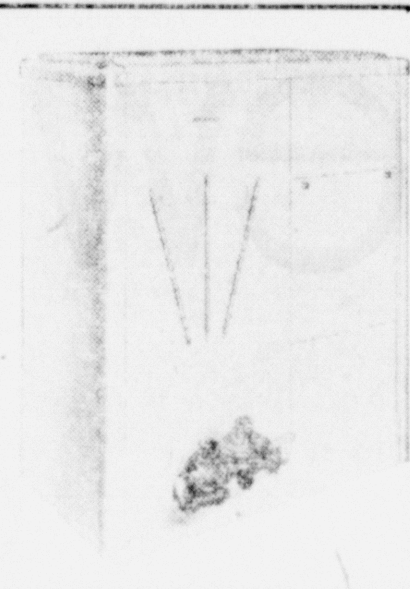

So the conflict between communism and other ideologies will continue indefinitely. General Osborn puts it mildly when he says Americans will be deluding themselves if they feel an easy time is ahead. Most observers feel that the warfare is bound to extend far beyond the present generation.

There has been a slackening off of the cold war in Europe. The Communist offensive across Europe has been halted, at least for the time being. However, simultaneously the conflict in the great Asiatic theatre has swollen to startling dimensions. Having overrun China with its vast population, communism is now using this as a base from which to strike in many directions.

Asia may well be the decisive battle ground in this war of the fates, but obviously it will take many years to reach the decision. There is small prospect that the world will have "peace in our time." "One world" is a long way off.

CATTLE—Fresh receipts were estimated at 1,500 head today, to mark an increase of 28 per cent over last Monday's fresh arrivals and to more than double the number offered for sale a year ago. The number was larger than the run of two weeks ago and the corresponding Monday a month ago. In addition to the fresh arrivals, salable receipts included around 200 head from last week. Included in the number on offer today were 24 loads of slaughter steers, 2 loads of heifers and 13 loads of stock cattle. Balance of the receipts were mainly cows and bulls.

Following last Thursday's extremely quiet trade dealings were slow in all slaughter divisions of cattle market. Slaughter steers unevenly steady to 50c lower compared to last Thursday, but most sales 25-50c lower. Run consisted largely of medium and good short-fed steers with choice offerings scarce. Old head lots of high-grade and choice yearling steers, 28-30, but bulk of medium and good $24-25, few $27. Common and low-medium, $21.50-23.50.

Heifers also moved seaward unevenly steady to 50c lower compared with last Thursday. Low-medium to good offerings, $22-25 in most cases with load and part-load lots $21.50-23; common heifers $18-21 and a few cutter offerings, $17.

Sales of cows mostly steady to weak compared with last Thursday, but losses chalked up in a few instances. Few odd head high-grade cows on heifers order $20-21, but most of the good cows, $17-18. Common and medium, $14.75-17 and canners and cutters, $11-14.30.

Bulls followed trend on steers and heifers, generally steady to 50c lower. An individual yearling beef bull or two $22.50, but most of good sausage bulls, $18.50-21. Few common and medium bolognas, $17-18.50.

Dealings fairly active in the replacement cattle division and prices for most part fully steady. Weighing conditions in some instances definitely favored the buying side and was a factor in the special dealings. Most of supply mixed

SEE DECISION IN FAVOR OF H-BOMB WORK

By OLIVER W. DE WOLF
Washington, Jan. 31 (P)—The Senate-House Atomic committee gave strong indication today that it is about to recommend that America develop the dread hydrogen bomb. Most speculation is that President Truman will order it.

A committee majority appeared ready to give its backing to the President in any such decision.

An afternoon meeting afforded a chance to take formal action, although there was no advance announcement of plans to take a vote.

Assembly Testimony
The committee has assembled testimony from top atomic, military and scientific leaders. It has had the H-bomb under continuous investigation and consideration for at least four months.

Up to now, it is understood, there has been no call for any show of hands to determine how each of the 18 committee members feel about developing the bomb, reportedly capable of eight to 1,000 times as much power as the present devastating atomic weapon. The cost of development has been estimated variously up to $4,000,000,000.

But from the public and private statements of individual members there is no doubt that the majority feels that the United States must, for its own protection, go ahead as rapidly as possible and try to develop the new weapon.

New Atomic Disclosure
Where the H-bomb work might be undertaken, assuming it is, is naturally a question for the future to answer. However, the defense department disclosed last night that the mysterious Sandia base in New Mexico is a place where A-bombs are assembled. It is also a place where airmen and others are taught their use.

The department's disclosure was in its annual report. It said more about Sandia, a base near Albuquerque, and the armed forces special weapons project which runs it, than has any previous announcement.

It said the project, a combined Army-Navy-Air Force organization, gives technical advice and assistance "for the preparation of plans for atomic warfare."

It continued: "The project maintains active military participation in the new weapon designs, development and production in cooperation with the atomic energy commission. This latter work is carried out largely at Sandia base where the commission maintains a branch of the Los Alamos laboratory."

NEW EFFORT TO FREE "BIG MO" FAILS AT DAWN

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 31 (AP)—A Chesapeake Bay tugboat refused today to release the battleship Missouri to the U. S. Navy.

A might two-hour effort to free the stranded 45,000-ton warship was officially called off at 7:32 a. m. by a terse message from the Missouri's bridge:

"The pull is over. Prepare to pull again tomorrow."

The fleet of tugs which had added their power to anchor winches and churned the calm seas to a muddy coffee color were ordered to retire. There were 13 pulling tugs, two heavy duty salvage vessels and eight small tugs.

Blame Winds, Tide

Failure of the effort was attributed largely to the fact that north-east winds died down during the night and a tide higher than normal did not develop.

The Navy had looked for six inches above the anticipated 27-foot depth. It didn't develop but the Navy went ahead anyway. Zero hour was 6:45 a. m., high tide at Hampton Roads.

There was an occasional shudder aboard the giant ship but she made no movement over the bottom. One Cable Snaps

The tugs, directed from the battleship, made an all-out effort to budge the battleship from the shoal where she grounded January 17. As they strained a one and a half inch steel wire to one tug snapped and whipped through the air, but injured no one. Another wire linking the tug to the ship held.
The Missouri sent out a query on the availability of additional salvage units. Then at 7:07 a. m., she sent this message: "All tugs on port side stop. All tugs on starboard side stop." But at 7:15 a. m., she called them in on the port bow for another go at it.

As dawn broke, on the Norfolk side of Hampton Roads as well as on the peninsula side in the Newport News area, civilians were out to see the show. A light fog prevented them from seeing very much.

Official Rehearsal

Today's effort had been called officially a dress rehearsal of the co-ordinated effort to float the 45,000-ton battleship. The original plan was to try to pull her free on February 2—groundhog day—when a higher tide is expected.

But the Navy left little doubt that it wanted the dress rehearsal to be so complete that the main show would not have to go on at all.

Rear Admiral Allan E. Smith, senior officer in charge of salvage operations, was aboard the battleship with her commander, Captain W. D. Brown. Also aboard was Cap-

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—The national capital's only burlesque theater, the Gaiety, is closing its doors after Thursday night's show.

The Gaiety, located on Ninth street off Pennsylvania avenue, featured girlie shows for 44 years. Its audiences have included men high in government. Many of the old faithful still attend, Manager Bernie Ferber said. "But we don't seem to draw any new customers."

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 31 (AP)—A news broadcast from a small boat near the mud-bound battleship Missouri today interrupted its report of salvage operations for a commercial. The commercial said that the sponsor, a transfer company, probably couldn't move the Missouri but it

HOUTTEMAN IS FETED AS 'MOST COURAGEOUS'

Philadelphia, Jan. 31 (AP)—Ten months ago they said he'd never play baseball again. In fact, they didn't think he would live and the last rites of the church were administered.

But he lived, and he played baseball again. Today he's the Philadelphia Sportswriters' Association's "most courageous athlete" of 1949. The gentleman in question is a tall, handsome 22-year-old, named Art Houtteman. His occupation is serving up baseballs for the Detroit Tigers of the American League.

Hit By 5-ton Truck

Last night, Houtteman stood in the spotlight before 1,200 persons at the association's annual banquet and in a faltering voice quipped: "All you've got to do to get up here is get hit by a five-ton truck."

On March 10 last year a five-ton truck crashed into Houtteman's car at Lakeland, Fla., the climax of a long series of mishaps to the young pitcher.

They said he wouldn't pitch again, but exactly two months later Houtteman was on the mound pitching for Detroit. He won 15 games, lost 10 and blossomed forth as one of the most promising young pitchers in baseball.

Houtteman received a tremendous ovation from the assemblage as he accepted the 1949 "courageous athlete" plaque to succeed Cleveland's Gene Bearden, 1948 winner.

Other Awards

Awards also were given to Steve Van Buren, Leon Hart and Bob Hope.

Van Buren shattered all existing records as a ground gainer in leading the Philadelphia Eagles to their second straight National Football league title. He was chosen the outstanding athlete of 1949.

Hope, awarded a special plaque for sportsmanship, observed dryly that Van Buren's proper nickname should not be "Supersonic Steve" or "Wham Bam" or "Weavin' Steven," but rather "Tomcat."

He never misses a yard," said Hope. Hart was honored as the college lineman of 1949. The star end for Notre Dame was a unanimous choice on the Associated Press All-America eleven.

ON TELEVISION PROGRAM

Fred E. Warner, Biglerville, was featured in the "Lazy H Ranch" television program last Thursday evening over WAAM. B-timbre. He spent the week-end at his home and returned Sunday evening to Baltimore where he had been playing music for the last two weeks.

England Orders American Apples

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—England has ordered $2,000,000 worth of apples in this country through the Economic Cooperation Administration but not enough have been offered to fill the request, Rep. Horan (R-Wash.) has been informed.

C. Tyler Wood, acting head of the ECA, told Horan that the agency had approved orders from foreign countries for $2,996,000 worth of U. S. fruits, including the $2,000,000 order of apples.

Horan made public the data today. The ECA told him that its missions abroad were keeping governments of participating countries informed of the availability of all surplus U. S. agricultural products, including fruits.

MRS. DORRANCE DIES

Philadelphia, Jan. 31 (AP)—Mrs. Emily Fox Dorrance, widow of an internationally known plastic surgeon and cancer specialist, died yesterday in University hospital. She was 60. Her late husband, Dr. George M. Dorrance, was former chairman of the board of the Campbell Soup company, and was widely recognized for his medical achievements. He died last November 21.

Holly berries are comparatively scarce because only female trees produce berries, and then only if weather is right. Corn has been called the "most valuable plant in America."

SAVE AT THE FIRST NATIONAL

"I don't make big deposits, but I make them often."

That was the answer one of our savers gave when a friend asked, "How do you do it?"

One thing that you will hear us say over and over again at Center Square is this:

"Don't wait until you get a big amount before you make a deposit. Come often. Come with a little, if that is all you can spare. If you wait, the money may get away — and you may never get here."

That's just common sense. And it tells the whole story for hundreds of savers who are building up substantial accounts in the First National Bank of Gettysburg.
